

SUPPORT THE WATER EDUCATION FOUNDATION THROUGH PLANNED GIVING

The high-quality publications and the programs of the Water Education Foundation depend upon many funding sources. Planned Giving is one such way individuals can support the work of the Water Education Foundation today and into the future.

Planned Giving refers to the process of making a charitable gift of estate assets to a nonprofit organization of your choice. Through this process, you can help to ensure that the Water Education Foundation is a presence in western water's future.

WATER EDUCATION
FOUNDATION

The mission of the Water Education Foundation, an impartial, nonprofit organization, is to create a better understanding of water resources and foster public understanding and resolution of water resource issues through facilitation, education and outreach.

How Can I Remember the Water Education Foundation?

The Water Education Foundation realizes that creating a document that will carry out your wishes and goals after death requires careful consideration and planning. We strongly encourage you to seek the advice of an experienced estate-planning professional when setting up such a document. However, as you consider your plans, the following are a few examples of the various bequest options that are available to remember the Foundation in your name.

Specific Bequest

A specific bequest is for a certain dollar amount or asset from your estate that can be made to a qualified 501(c) 3 nonprofit organization, such as the Water Education Foundation, to be used for its general purposes.

Percentage Bequest

A percentage bequest is for a specified percentage of your estate that can be given to a qualified 501(c) 3 nonprofit organization, such as the Water Education Foundation, to be used for its general purposes. A percentage bequest guards against inequities in distribution to family members and favored causes that could occur should the value of your estate change during your lifetime.

Residuary Bequest

A residuary bequest is a gift from your estate to a qualified 501(c) 3 nonprofit organization, such as the Water Education Foundation, to be used for its general purposes. After distribution to family members and other loved ones, a residuary bequest allows you to direct a percentage of the remainder of your estate to the Water Education Foundation.

As you can see there are many ways to support the Water Education Foundation through Planned Giving. If you are interested in exploring any of these options please contact the Water Education Foundation at 916-444-6240.

Please consult your tax attorney or a professional advisor to discuss and evaluate the most appropriate planned giving options for you.
